

Responsibilities of WEC International

- Recognizes Church as sender of the worker. (Acts 13:1-3)
- Ensures good communication between Worker, Church and WEC. (Eph.4:3-4)
- Confirms the candidate is recommended by the Church and does not allow them to leave for the Field until the sending Church agrees they are sufficiently prepared.
- Responsible for Candidate Orientation and training. (Eph.4:11-16)
- Finds the right placement for the candidate with input from the Church if appropriate.
- Provides advice on obtaining necessary insurance and preventative health requirements.
- Provides member care and accountability on the Field.
- Reports back to the Church on the worker's progress as required, and informs the Church of any significant problem.
- Consults with the Church on any major change in assignment or location of ministry.
- Debriefs the worker on return from the Field. (Luke 9:10)
- Recognizes that reporting to and ministering in sending Church during home leave is the primary responsibility of the worker.
- Issues tax-deductible receipts to donors and sends the funds to the worker after appropriate government deductions.
- Upon request, WEC will provide the Church with WEC's annual report and financial statement.

WEC International Worldwide Evangelization for Christ

For church leaders and missions committees

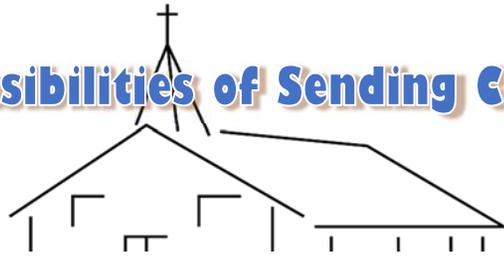

WEC International is committed to assist the local church in sending workers into cross cultural service. Out of this commitment comes the need to form a threefold partnership between Church, WEC and worker (Ecc. 4:12).

To achieve a strong partnership we need good communication and consideration of things such as:

- ❖ Member care
- ❖ Decision-making procedures
- ❖ Communication expectations
- ❖ Accountability structures
- ❖ Home assignment

This leaflet presents some guidelines for the three parties to consider. A threefold partnership ensures a strong base for cross-cultural workers to fulfill Christ's command to make disciples of all nations. If you would like more ideas please check our website or contact us, we want to help 😊.

Responsibilities of Sending Church

- The sending Church works closely with WEC in screening and preparing the candidate for service.
- It assures that the candidate understands the inner workings of the Church, learns to be accountable to Church leadership and serves effectively within the Church.
- The Church commits to help the worker financially (see www.wec-canada.org). It is helpful for this support to begin before the candidate leaves for the Field.
- Educates the congregation as to their responsibility to support the worker through prayer, encouragement and giving.
- It provides opportunities for members by, if appropriate, promoting a visit to the Field either by short-term teams or a pastoral visit.
- Develops a support team within the Church to champion the worker and their ministry.
- Commissions the new worker on leaving and re-commissions them following home leave and return to the Field.
- Is ready to work with WEC and the worker if problems arise on the Field.
- Is actively involved in the debriefing of the worker and their accountability during home assignment.
- Seeks to help them with family matters such as their children being away from home or their aging parents.
- Communicates with worker about Church news and prayer needs.

Responsibilities of the Worker

- Be an active Church member, recommended by the Church for cross-cultural service.
- Has a clear call from God. If married, both spouses are called.
- Meets all requirements of WEC, Field and Church.
- Willing to be accountable to and reports regularly to both Church and WEC.
- Builds a strong prayer base and keeps prayer supporters informed.
- Works in harmony with fellow workers on the Field.
- Consults with Church and WEC regarding any change in assignment or location.
- Makes it a priority during home leave to give significant time to meet with WEC and Church.
